Let's Get Started

Ask yourself right now: Are you as happy as you'd like to be? As successful as you should be? Involved in a deeply satisfying, mutually-loving relationship that makes you feel totally complete?

If you answered "no" to any of the above, learning how to intuitively perceive the future from playing cards using the Personal Prophesy Card Reading method can guide you accurately and meaningfully to achieve these important pursuits in life.

Personal Prophesy makes it possible to re-design our lives literally from the ground up. We're able to take our lives as they are and through our own intuitive perception make them better. Happier. More complete.

Yes, it is possible!

First, it's important to forget the following self-defeating misconceptions:

* We're helpless to bring change to our lives;
* We have no choice but to accept circumstances as they are;
* We don't deserve to be happy.

Each of the above couldn't be more wrong!

The cards will always prophesize that life is nothing but change and happiness is an inherent part of our makeup as spiritual beings. We literally deserve to be as happy as we want to be!

With proper decision-making, we can use that powerful instrument – Change - to bring lasting happiness, love and joy into our lives in the present before we even venture into the future.

And far more quickly than you may think.

Consider: What causes change essentially begins and ends with you. Your attitudes, your belief systems, your thoughts and daily emotions. Yes, it is that simple!

Learning to become more intuitive by reading playing cards means all the difference in the world between achieving true happiness and merely wishing to achieve it.

How is this possible? Simple.

The Universe is an ever-changing sea of possibility and opportunity. You literally create your own circumstances by thinking and believing every single moment.

The cards will reveal precisely what is truly possible and tangible for your life. With that kind of intuitive insight, the process of 'making the future happen' in the way you want it to happen becomes that much more intensely energized and available for the taking.

Conducting a Three-Card Reading

Shuffle the deck repeatedly or simply mix the cards in a big swirly pile in front of you, face down, until you feel ready to start conducting three-card readings.

When you feel ready, ask a particular question and draw the cards out one at a time into a set of three. (Interpretations for each of the cards are provided in this mini lesson.)

Read the trio of cards as an equation, thusly: 1 + 1 + 1 = ___ . (The answer will be the insight you receive intuitively from the symbolism of those three cards.)

Once you have drawn 17 trios of cards, there will be one card remaining. Read this final card as a special intuitive message.

Playing Card Symbolism: Suit of Diamonds

The suit of Diamonds is one of the most telling suits in reading ordinary playing cards. Some of the cards are instrumental, if not downright vital, in order to produce an accurate reading.

Diamonds are, by nature, cards which signify development, relationship issues and acquisition in terms of their literal meanings.

Descriptions of Suit of Diamonds Cards

Two: This card characterizes secrets and clandestine activity. Events occurring "behind your back." Always seen in readings as a card of warning.

Three: Literally means "domestic conflicts." This card indicates that a conflict will go from petty differences to big feud in no time at all. When you see this card in your readings, it is telling you to find a way to make a workable peace in this situation, and soon.

Four: Signifies "untrueness." It focuses on lies, infidelity, revenge. It warns to be very much on your guard when it appears in your readings. Deceit and betrayal are afoot.

Five: Symbolizes news as though an ear is receiving information. The cards connected to it will tell you whether it's "good" news or "bad" news. It brings information to you within the context of the reading and lets you know that new developments are in the making.

Six and Eight of Diamonds: Both cards essentially mean "a relationship exists here" - as in between family members, friends, co-workers, etc.

Seven: Characterizes scandal in readings. It holds an important message about misinterpreting what we see. It also indicates that others are talking as a result of false impressions. I t's gossipy, nasty, "behind your back" defamation.

Nine: Signifies uncertainty. It focuses on confusion and indecision. It tells you "the answer is still not decided." A useful tool in all areas of your life, letting you know that you are being misunderstood, dealing with chaos all around you or in a situation for which the outcome has yet to be determined.

Ten: Characterizes a full range of financial matters. It literally means money and money-related situations.

Jack: Essentially, the male represented by the Jack is young at heart and still somewhat inexperienced in the ways of life. Jacks don't have an abundance of wisdom to impart. That's considered to be more the King's job in terms of readings and those in your life these cards will come to represent.

Queen: This card will always represent a female in readings. In terms of the Diamonds Queen, see her as rather independent, a good money-manager and generally quite disciplined in nature. She has a head for business and a strong creative streak that enables her to make money everywhere she goes. Negative traits include a demanding, domineering personality and a significant detachment emotionally in her relationships with others.

King: Represents a male, older in age or "spirit", having fair complexion and light hair and eyes. Trust his advice on financial matters, he has insight to help you find direction.

Ace: Signifies "unity" - as in marriage, mergers, partnerships, etc. It indicates in your readings a very strong bond, a commitment to a goal or purpose, a meeting of minds. And it definitely indicates a wedding between romantic partners. Think "unity" in your readings when the Ace appears and you won't go wrong.

Suit of Diamonds Personality Traits: Materialistic, money-minded, on the "egotistical" side, aloof, difficult to know. In certain respects, these individuals enjoy being in the limelight.

Diamonds are often great performers, business owners, investment brokers/bankers, tax consultants or real estate collectors.

Playing Card Symbolism: Suit of Spades

The suit of Spades involves intense range of emotion, change and other important factors in making predictions. Spades are analytical, truth-seeking and logical by nature.

Descriptions of the Suit of Spades Cards

Two: Signifies change. For instance, the feeling of walking in one direction then suddenly you take a step in another direction and continue on from there. This card deals with a definite, decided change of course in readings.

Three: Signifies routine matters and unexpected events. The feeling of running into somebody at the store you haven't seen for a long time. This is one of the more neutral cards in the deck. It is generally a pleasant card and the other cards around it provide the emotion.

Four: Indicates illness or depression. The card cautions you about health and mental state. It's a depressing, gloomy, unhealthy card.

Five: Signifies anger, as in red hot anger. Imagine a forest being burned down. Sometimes a good clearing is needed for new growth.
Six: Signifies caution, most of the time. This card is a warning to proceed slowly, hold back, keep certain emotions in reserve. Some of the time, it indicates pregnancy.

Seven: Signifies deep loss; something that will be deeply grieved.

Eight: Characterizes tears. Imagine tears of pity, self-pity, sorrow, crying, etc. Also can be cleansing, comforting, healing tears.

Nine: A card that indicates intense grief and anguish, sense of mourning. The period of longing for what can't be brought back. Unresolved heartaches.

Ten: Indicates a meaningful journey.

Jack: Represents a male, young in age or "spirit". Perceived to be intellectual, rather than emotional in nature, particularly in how he views the world.

Queen: Represents a female who is rather judgmental by nature and tends to view all aspects of her life in 'black and white.'

King: Represents a male, older in age or "spirit". Trust his guidance, he has insight to help you find direction.

Ace: 1) When the Apex or point of the Spade points up in the reading it means a conclusion, an ending. Considered the Death Card, meaning the death of circumstances, not people, 90% of the time. Remember, with death, there is always a new beginning. Death in reading cards is a door offering a new beginning.

2) Apex pointing down: The card is telling you about someone or something at a distance, not in this location, usually quite far away.

Suit of Spades Personality Traits: These individuals are driven by their minds, not their hearts. They are not emotionally-inclined. Spades people make excellent judges, lawyers, dealers of justice.

Spades can also be difficult to get along with, as caught up in right and wrong as they are.

Playing Card Symbolism: Suit of Hearts

The suit of Hearts indicates matters of the heart and the presence of true love in intuitive readings. Hearts involve acts of loving, caring, humanitarianism and care-giving. Negative aspects are jealousy, workaholism and over-indulgence.

Descriptions of the Suit of Hearts Cards

Two: Characterizes ambition and personal fulfillment. Remember the feeling of an accomplished personal dream, the sense of having "made it." Excellent aspects when joined with career and marriage cards.

Three: Signifies regret and sorrow. The feeling of having broken a friend's precious possession, of realizing you broke it. Apologies perceived in the cards will be joined with this card.

Four: This card involves jealousy, resentment and outright malice. Never a good card in readings, it's always one of warning.

FIVE: Signifies a gift or compliment. The feeling of receiving a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

SIX: This card characterizes great promise, a yellow brick road. The feeling of a bright and sunny road to the future. It involves both personal and professional relationships that develop into marriages or partnerships with tremendous potential for success.

SEVEN: Signifies genuine friendship, pure platonic love. This card will show you who your true friends are, the ones who will be beside you through thick and thin. It is not as often seen in readings as one might think.

EIGHT: A card that indicates a sense of celebration. The feeling of being at a party, having fun, good times.

NINE: The 'wish' or 'query' card in readings. This card means nothing by itself. It's the other cards around it they tell whether your wish will be harmful or helpful to you.

TEN: Signifies true love, unity. The feeling of love that can last through anything and everything. You know with this person by your side, you can accomplish anything and overcome all obstacles.

JACK: Represents a male who has a youthful, loving spirit.

QUEEN: Represents a woman who possesses a giving, loving, caring nature at heart.

KING: Represents a man older and more mature in terms of spirit who is sensitive to the needs of others and isn't afraid to show his 'softer side' emotionally.

ACE: Focuses on the home. The other cards surrounding the Ace of Hearts will show you the actual feelings concerning "the home".

Suit of Hearts Personality Traits: Primarily centered on the various emotional aspects involving "the heart" and "matters of the heart."

Individuals characterized by the suit of Hearts people make excellent nurses and doctors, pastors and missionaries, child care givers and teachers, homemakers and parents.

Playing Card Symbolism: Suit of Clubs

The suit of Clubs characterizes work, effort, creativity and meaningful agreements. They also include self-growth and accomplishment. They contain aspects concerning growth, creative activity, explosive ideas, innovation and ambition.

It is this suit which tends to get most of the "work" done in terms of societal advancement and progression of thought coupled with future-oriented energy.

Descriptions of the Suit of Clubs Cards

Two: Indicates minor disappointments where expectations are concerned. This card translates into, "The outcome will not be quite as anticipated."

Three: Signifies "duration of time" defined as an event coming right at you. Imagine standing in one place and a hard ball is soaring through space coming at you. Your back is turned and it's going to hit you, hard. But if you turn around and get ready for it, you will be able to catch it. This is the essence of the Three of Clubs.

Four: Characterizes misfortune in readings. This card warns of a major setback; for instance, an unexpected set of circumstances that must be prepared for. Always a card of caution in readings.

Five: Indicates an agreement. This card simply means agreement in the form of a contract, commitment, transaction, merger and so on.

Six: Represents effort. It focuses on work or the workplace.

Seven: Characterizes desire, particularly sexual attraction. This card does not represent any type of affection, simply the sexual attraction seeking gratification.

Eight: Indicates frustration and impatience, things are not progressing as planned.

Nine: Signifies indulgence. This card represents drinking, drugs, over-eating, over-socializing at its worst. Having a good time, enjoying the company of others in a social atmosphere are its more positive aspects.

Ten: Indicates something "official." This card is neutral and focuses on legalities, government, military matters.

Jack: Represents a male, younger in age or "spirit" who is highly creative and driven to follow lofty pursuits and ideals due to his own innate sense of worldly vision.

Queen: Represents a female who is extremely creative in her way of thinking and loves expressing herself. She has an altruistic way of looking at the world.

King: Represents a male who is older in age or "spirit" who is extremely creative in the way he thinks and acts due to his expansive grasp on life and the world in general.

Ace: Indicates forms of communication - phone calls, letters, online interaction. .

Suit of Clubs Personality Traits: Inventive, creative, visionary, altruistic. Those characterized by this suit often become designers, builders, artists/musicians, actors/actresses, leaders in government, lobbyists, writers/poets, alternative spiritualists, explorers or astronomers.

Daily Guide Card Readings

Allow the cards to guide you with their own intuitive advice.

Each day ask them, "What do I need to know intuitively about today?" and select a card at random from the deck.

The intuitive message of that card will be characterized as your Guide Card for the day.

From that one card, you will learn important insights and undertake meaningful life lessons, gaining direction by heeding its particular intuitive message.

The more we listen to the interpretation of inspiration readily available to us through such Guide Card readings and meditation sessions, the more we are able to live happier, more fulfilling lives as a result.

And the more we are able to intuit ourselves happy that much more effectively.
